

Lies, Deceit and Nefarious SCHEMES

Issue 20

Sept. 16, 1978

Hey, hey...here we are again with another issue of LDNS. No other zine can make that statement, (though some have tried). Before we get into the levity that seems to find its way inside I want to take the time to stop and offer my condolence to the family of Tom Burns who died of cystic fibrosis at the age of 23. Tom was not a member of the LDNS family but was an active Dippy player whom I was in a game with. While it is not a good idea to be an emotional person in this hobby I unfortunately am and Tom's death bothers me greatly. We, Pat, BJ and myself have all said a little prayer for Tom. He'll be missed.

LDNS is a postal Diplomacy zine dedicated to the play of Diplomacy which is a game invented by Allan Calhamer and copyrighted by Avalon Hill and imitated by Battlegrounds. LDNS is published by Jerry and Pat Jones, with a little help from BJ. Our address should you wish to write is 1854 Wagner St. Pasadena, CA 91107. If you want to talk to someone as smart as yourself, dial (213) 449-0982 and ask for ~~PAT~~ Jerry. Sub rates for LDNS are 10 issues for $4. (Please note the number following your name on the address label. That is the number of the last issue that you will receive without renewal.

Are there any games? You had to ask! There is still two openings in the Kingmaker game @ $2. If this game is NOT filled by the next issue it will be dropped. Now for the good news, LDNS is accepting names for TWO new Diplomacy games. Nobody ever said that I was sane! I will be accepting names on a first come first served basis. The first seven people that SEND IN the $2 game fee and $2 NMR deposit will be admitted into LDNS 12. The money must be in before you will be considered as a member of the game.

The Black Sheep is a subzine of LDNS dedicated to orphaned games. As of this writing there are three games in TBS and more on the way. That is why LDNS MUST have a super long Standby list. Those SUPER PEOPLE are: Andy Cook, Steve Heinowski, Craig Reges, Tony Watson, Mitchell Bailes (I found him!), Dave Ditter, Carl Eichelberger, Robert Gallagher, Stan' Johnson, Ron Kelly, John Morris, Marck Morrison, Dave Mueth, Ken Peterson, and Dave Rohde. Due to The Black Sheep these people have gone beyond the call of duty so can I add your name to the list? Please? In that vain I will standby for for any publisher that I trade with who will standby for LDNS, fair enough?

From the letters I've been receiving I guess I'll continue to put the DEMO game on page 1. So here goes:

LDNS 10	1978-??	Winter 1901
AUS (Craig Reges)	Builds A Vie and A Bud.
ENG (Robert Sergeant)	Builds F Lon
FRA (Jim Diehl)	Builds F Mar & F Bre
GER (Lee Kendter)	Builds A Ber & A Kiel
ITA (Chuck Spiekerman)	Builds F Nap
RUS (Leland Harmon)	Builds A Mos
TUR (Jack Powers)	Builds F Smy

Commentary Winter 1901 by Eric Verheiden.

Wery little in the way of new information here, just confirmation of suspicions. Italy and Turkey built fleets pointed at each other, which should mean that Austria need not worry about a three front war. Austria's builds were forced, Russia's A Mos was a bit more noncommittal than I might have thought, A War and forget about Sweden might have been a bit more prudent. Of course, Russia might make up with Austria, in which case his position

Over.

In the west, the most likely possibility seems like England and Germany against France, although an English alliance against Germany is not inconceivable by any means. A very dramatic option open to the west is a three way alliance against the stalemated east. The builds do not completely foreclose the possibility; the main problem with this sort of thing is not the immediate competition, believe it or not, but the day of reckoning that comes later, as the three-way alliance shrinks to two.

Stay tuned...same time, same station...next issue.

Is Italy green with envy?

EDITORIAL (more or less)...

Well last Sunday was my birthday (that has nothing to do with this article but I thought I'd toss that in). No, what this article is about is me and you. Last issue I was becoming depressed with LDNS. It happens sometimes. You can't begin to comprehend what this zine takes out of you sometimes. Well, last issue it was getting to me. I had just been told (for the umpteenth time) that there was a player that wanted out of this zine. While I guess that there is nothing wrong with that it just stuck in my craw and the more I thought about it the more it upset me. That is why it's not a good idea to be an emotional person in this hobby.

But that has all changed and my outlook is totally different. It never fails, just when I start to get down some of you wonderful guys and gals come through. Now every issue someone always has something nice to say about the issue and I do appreciate it but for me it is always the little things that count. An example is Bob Gallaghers picture and now Carl's (almost, drawings only count as half a picture) and now more promises of pics are coming in. I also noticed that some of you are signing your letters THANK and mentioning some obscure thing that I mentioned in the zine. Marck Morrison's wife Susan wrote something for the zine's Dippy Widow section. These are the kind of things that mean the most to me. I could go on and on about some of the crazy things that enter my mailbox but the postal rates limit me to just those few. LDNS has always been and still is now your zine. I just type it up and toss in a little comment from time to time. I consider LDNS to be a zine that has no subscriber's but rather has a large family of friends. I like it that way. You are a part of LDNS and when it was voted second in John Leeder's poll it wasn't me who was to be congratulated, it was all of you. You have made LDNS what it is today (dare I say it?) ...The Cream of the Crop. Nobody ever said I was modest!!! So let the other zines get all the letters on world politics and the like and LDNS will be a fun zine and a zine that is designed around Diplomacy and having a good time in general.

To the members of the LDNS family...[We salute you. (and thank you!)

Is Turkey cautious, or just plain Yellow?

Now for the item from a new (three week) Diplomacy Widow, Susan Morrison. (Since Pat isn't reading this I'll let you in on a secret, I'm in love with the name Susan. So Susan, as far as LDNS (at least my part of it) your off to a head start.

"This song, sung to the tune of "There's a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea", is dedicated to all other dippy widows. (Hint: It's terrific to sing softly while you hubbie's nose is pointing toward a dip board!)"

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1) There's a hole in the bottom of the zine,
There's a hole in the bottom of the zine,
There's a hole, there's a hole,
There's a hole in the bottom of the zine. | 5) There's a looney playing Turkey in the world on the staple in the hole in the bottom of the
zine. |
| 2) There's a staple in the hole in the bottom of the zine. | 6) There's an idea in the mind of the looney playing Turkey in the world on the staple in the
hole in the bottom of the zine. |
| 3) There's a world on the staple in the hole in the bottom of the zine. | 7) THERE IS NOTHING SUBSTANTIAL in the idea in the mind of the looney playing Turkey in the world on the staple in the
hole in the bottom of the zine. |
| 4) There's a Turkey in the world on the staple in the hole in the bottom of the zine. | |

Continuing from Susan's song:

Susan, this is Pat. You left out one line, There's a hole in the head in the publisher of the zine. By the way I have one question for you, Did you know that he played Diplomacy before you married him? If you did, you have a secret desire to become a social worker and if you didn't you should remember that you can use that as grounds for annulment under the grounds of a hidden shady character.

Anyway, the best is yet to come. Let me preview something for you. Wait until Xmas and you ask him what he wants. He'll say, "Oh, the usual. Personal stationary, a new type-writer, or hew about something for the house, like paint so we can re-paint the bedroom. In fact we can re-paint it sorta mod like, like we could do the wall to resemble a Diplomacy board. You know, that would look kinda sharp!" Mark my words, it'll happen. But you will REALLY need to worry if he asks for a mimeo machine. Should that happen why don't you and I go to Hawaii for six months?

When Austria attacks Turkey does the Turkish player see Red?

Yesterday I received my issue of Claw and Fang and inside was something that really got to me. I don't quite understand why I reacted the way I did but it really seemed to bother me. What hapened was that a game ended in a seven way draw, which is odd enough but the thing that really is screwy is that the game ended BEFORE Fall 1901! If those players wish to pay for a game and then conclude it after one year I'll start a new zine just for them. Game fees are $10 per person. Crazy!

I can see that with a German army in Burgandy the Frenchman is blue, but why is England so blue?

Do Russians only tell "little White lies"?

Thanx for all the letters with names for the puppy. It was a tough decision trying to pick that name which would fit. What we finally did was to combine a few of the names into one. What we choice was: Frau Hilda von Spot. You should have been at the license place when I went to get her her dog license. When I told the girl the name I thought she was going to die. I explained that the name came from Diplomacy players and she said that I need not explain further. Thanx to all.

When you get a letter from Germany, is that a Black letter day?

ALL PLAYERS PLEASE NOTE: Houserule Change: Do to the limited amount of space in LDNS I can't start anynew games (sanely) with all of the current games going and I am finding that some of the games are moving TOO slowly due to the constant request for Separation of Seasons each winter. In fact, there is a game this issue that had only three builds and a SOS was called for and by the old rules, granted. In the future I may call for a mandatory Winter/Spring season. Even in a mandatory W/S season a separation may be called for and granted if two or more players ask for it. So on a mandatory W/S season be sure to send in your spring orders along with your winter builds even if you want the separation. I prefer a list of conditional orders rather than a slow game (and I'm sure that most of you feel the same.)

If you learn of an Austria stab, have you caught him Red handed?

LDNS Homeowners Guide: How many times have you sat waiting for the phone to ring with your ally on the other end only to find that when it does ring it is some fool wanting to come and give you a "free estimate for Cental Air Conditioning" or the like and no matter what you say they won't hang up and being the nice person that you are you don't rudely hang up on them. Well Here's the answer as how to be tactful and still hang up the phone. All you need to do is in the middle of their speel speak up and say that you are sorry but you just rent the house. You'll be amazed at how quickly they hang up. Try it you'll like it!

DREST: PRINCESS TERESARETH announced at a surprise Press Conference today that her diplomatic couriers have been thoroughly confused and are wondering about the countryside looking for various embassies.

The confusion, it appears arises from the stutterings of the infamous Ambassador to England Andrew LaYoung, whose large vocabulary has gotten the Princess into difficulties on more than one occasion.

It appears the Ambassador first announces that England is allied with Russia vs. Germany. Four days latter announces that England is moving north vs. Russia with German aid. As per norm for Andphew, the following week he porclains that England is moving towards and plans to attack France with Italian aid. And before the ink dries announces that England and France have reached an agreement on the attack of Germany, then corrects it to England and Italy attacking Germany. Broadcasting that he can prove all these claims.

"The mouth has roared again," The Princess proclaimed, "NO wonder the couriers are confused!"

When asked what she planned to do about it this time the Princess turned pointing towards her fleets and porclained, "First I'll expose my Brest to him, for I'm sure he's never seen a Brest like this before. Then while he is still in a period of confusion I'll ask him just who is he lying to and to whom is he being truthful with for they apparently all believe him. You know, that all of the people some of the time stuff."

"And what if he should try to grab your Brest?", one reporter asked.

"First I'll bounce him and then I'll show him my other Brest", she quipped.

((Pant, pant. Say Jack, when are you and Teresa moving out here? Maybe all of us could get a face-to-face game going? Just thought I'd ask.--JHJ))

The General has called for an IMMEDIATE surrender of ALL armies currently holding Russian territory and the return of said territory to the Russian Empire. The German armies are permitted to keep the areas which still have active cases of the Plague.

NEW YORK: Moereeee Glibb, unofficial leader of the GEE GEE's (or is it HEE BEE's), stated that "it is an extreme honor to have a selection of the TEE HEE's (or is it BEE TEE's) enshrined as the National Anthem of so great (?) a country as Russia. I'm sure "Stayin' Alive" accurately describes the plight of the Russkies at this point in time. I am looking forward to wherever the temporary Russian government headquarters has been set up to take part in the official ceremonies which will make "Stayin' Alive" immortal. Hopefully I will get to meet the famous Russian composer, Patriska Joneski, who wrote that all time hit, "Why, Oh Why, Did I Ever Leave Warsaw?" and the title song from the movie "Blood On The Dark Side Of The Moon" (a love story)."

Brussels: Rejoicing in the streets followed the triumphant liberation of the city against the German siege. Asked where French forces might be headed next, a press officer replied that only sightseeing was currently planned, "perhaps some of those picturesque castles on the Rhine", he added.

Munich/Berlin/Kiel=Germany Declares War On Italy! Italian forces have snuck and slinked into Tyrolia and advanced towards our Austrian cousins in an open effort to Germany's policy of Peace In-Der-Ost.

Chancellor Berkeley has been granted control of the Republic and stated: "Italian perfidiousness shall be dealt with by a total savage war even to the destruction of the Republic. We can overlook the open effrontery of the English and the pushiness of the French, but the slimy manner of the Italian assault of the Alpine Region will be smashed assunder. We pray to Woton that the slopes of the Tyrol soon be covered with the rotting carcasses of the Italian dogs.

Press:

ROME: The French and Italian Riveria's should have peace. Relax in the sun after stomping the Hun. Austria will soon die and the French will need a friend.
Sevastople to Constantinople: Why jump on me? I TRIED to be friendly! Now, being too cheap to send flowers, I yield only this note:
War is War; I sit and snore; Whilst you I gore; All because some stupid, ungrateful
Turkey closed the door!! (top that one, Andy-!)

MOSCOW: My thanks go out to France and England for the superb performance. Never before have I enjoyed the execution of a German as much as this!

CONSTANTINOPLE: The Turkish Government today announced the winner of the "Golden Eunach" award for 1903. After much debate it was given to the Italian Prime Minister for getting (bleeped) by Austria and France.

Smyrna to Moscow: Tanstaafel!!!

Austria calls for an alliance of France, Eng, Aus, and Turkey to destroy Rus & Italy.
FEAT, do your stuff.

Winter and Spring orders will be due next issue.

Press:

London to Paris: Our sincere thanks go out to the fellow blue in appreciation for the Iberian Peninsula. The gift was accepted with open arms... the same arms that, given time, will encircle all of Europe.

LONDON: Never in English history was there a celebration such as immediately followed the broadcasting of yet another pair victories claimed solely by the newly-formed and world-famous British armed forces. Rumer has it both were milk runs, but make no mistake about it, the once scorned and ridiculed British armies are leading the dark blue forward in a most astounding victory.

Players please note. A separation of seasons can and will only be allowed to accommodate the Winter season. It will never be allowed to separate between the Spring and the Fall moves.

London-Vienna: I must say the lectures in Paris were quite informative. Perhaps now the French should attend a few.

The Turkish navy has accepted a mass scholarship at the University of Samarland.

Bunke, Prince of Walss, is rumored to have been seen in London at a tailor's being fitted for an Admirals uniform.

Press from LDNS-8

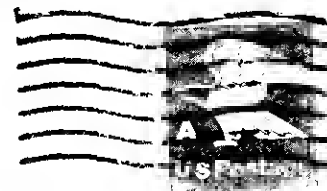

Berlin to London: Picardy?? Are you kidding me? After so many years alliance with Italy, we have grown quite accustomed to Burgandy. But, on the other hand, we may finally get some action with an English ally, You're on, Dad.

MUNICH: Rumer has it the Poles are revolting. Truthfully speaking, all Russians are just as revolting, but nevertheless, swarms of German reporters are rushing towards Warsaw. Such is not an easy matter, as the stench worsens considerably with each step toward the hated capitol, Moscow. The Kaiser wishes to give these brave souls a big hand.

Italy declares war on England, Germany and Turkey.

PARIS (National News): The minister of Foreign Affairs was once again heard to cast dispersions on the sanity of the British monarch, but then, did admit grudgingly that did have a toe hold on the continent now. Just how long the Germans will allow such is the real question.
